- This information is intended for anyone who is looking to order something from the Central Perk Cafe

When are they looking at it and what goal are they most likely trying to achieve?

- They are looking for what to order at this cafe.

1 - Heading

- This section is meant to be seeing first and is the title for this menu. This is supposed to be the first thing that the viewer sees when looking at the menu. They will see the name of the cafe in addition to when it was opened and a fun fact about the live music. The name of the Cafe is bolded so that it pops out more.

2 - Food

- This group is meant to display all of the food options that would be considered a main course. In the design, we bold the prices of the food items to show the price more clearly and have a description for each of the food items. Each subcategory of dishes is underlined and bolded so that it is easier for the viewer to know where to look. Each category has all its options indented at the same level with its price bolded at the end of each line. Under the relevant items, there are options for that menu items in terms of sides or any specifics.

3 - Footer

- This is the simplest of the sections. It's at the bottom of the menu and specifies the gratuity role that the cafe has for parties of over 5.
